

From the Principal Welcome Back to Term 4.

Welcome back to all staff and students. I hope you had a restful break. The HSC started this week for Year 12 students, so everyone is anxiously awaiting a look at the papers in the new HSC courses being examined for the first time. Year 11 students make decisions very soon about their final suite of courses they will take to the HSC in 2020 as their Preliminary courses are finalised. Extension 2 mathematics has a new syllabus and has commenced for Year 11 students. The Governors Centre construction has begun! Anzac Parade has been secured by a median strip fence, making students use the Tibby Cotter bridge or the bus stop and crossing opposite SGHS, until the Light Rail begins operation officially. I look forward to a productive and happy term four!

High Talent

Late last term, the High U15s basketball team won their way through to the final eight stage of the CHS Knockout championships. During the holidays, High's Open Basketball team won the Sydney Shootout Tournament. Congratulations to all the boys involved! At the National Schools Judo Championships, Ivan Samsonov (9F) won gold in the Senior Boys D1 60+kg competition. Great work, Ivan! Kieren Guan (11R) was named Junior Champion at the Australian Open Short Track Speed Skating Championships. Kieren qualified to compete at the Junior World championship to be held in Italy next January and for the Winter Youth Olympic Games to be held in Switzerland early next year. Very impressive results, Kieren! James Walker (9M) won the Young Filmmaker Prize at the 2019 My Rode Reel competition. Well done, James! This week the Sir Roden and Lady Cutler Foundation donated a VW Caddy fully converted motor vehicle equipped for disabled access to the family of a quadriplegic boy. It was the biggest single donation ever made by the Foundation. Congratulations to Vince del Zio and the board for their wonderfully generous gesture. Ryan Jepson (SHS-2019) was presented with the John Lincoln Award for significant service to the community by the Governor, Margaret Beazley AO QC at a recent ceremony at Government House. Congratulations, Ryan! Ryan Ong (10M) has been selected by the Australian Informatics Olympiad Committee to attend the School of excellence at ANU in December. Well done, Ryan!

Foundation Day Assembly

Last Monday we held the Foundation Day Assembly and induction of School Prefects ceremony. Colin Whelan gave an impassioned, interactive and intensely personal address, exploring the concept of leadership in several contexts. He compared the scenario of protesting against the Vietnam War with the current protests to save the planet from climate change effects. He affirmed the inalienable right of young people to protest. My speech to the assembly is reprinted below:

Special guest Colin Whelan (SHS-1969), Old Boys, former student leaders, staff, Prefect Interns, parents and students, good morning and welcome to our Foundation Day Assembly, celebrating 136 years since our founding on the ground floor of a building in Elizabeth St. on October 8, 1883. The school's purpose was to prepare students for university entrance. That remains its primary purpose today. We are celebrating the Jubilee of the Class of 1969. That year was a big one for space flight. The USSR v USA space race was at its zenith. Soyuz 4 and 5 were launched, docked successfully, transferred crew via a spacewalk and returned to earth. Richard Nixon was sworn in before Apollo 9 was launched and successfully tested a moon lander.

Venera 5 and 6 reached Venus with one successfully landing. Apollo 10 completed its mission. July 16-20 were days dominated by the awe-inspiring Apollo 11 mission, with Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin's moon landing and walk, supported by Michael Collins; and the crew's subsequent safe return to Earth. In November, there was another triumphal moon landing by Apollo 12. In politics, the anti-Vietnam War movement was growing in intensity. In April, the Harvard University Administration building was taken over by 300 students, 184 of whom were arrested. Anti-war protesters were radicalised and 'The Weathermen' revolutionaries made headlines. In July, the first US troops were withdrawn from Vietnam. In October, the 'Moratorium to End the War in Vietnam' was staged. In November, details of the My Lai massacre were published. It was a time for celebration and condemnation in equal measure.

At High, Murray Callaghan announced in The Record, the commencement of construction of the McDonald Wing. It would be 50 years before another building, the Governors Centre, commenced this month on this site. He concluded his introduction by saying, 'you have a wonderful school – care for it proudly!' I echo Mr Callaghan's sentiments wholeheartedly. There were fourteen changes in the teaching staff in 1969, partly to accommodate the extra year of the Wyndham Scheme, so the senior students and teachers had to adapt to the new system together. It was a time of great change.

In 1969, High fielded 26 rugby teams. The first XV conceded up to 12kgs per man to the other GPS sides but still had a win against Riverview and draws against Shore and St Josephs. It was High's inaugural year in CHS first grade football. The lads had three wins, three losses and a draw. Joshua Ehrlich kicked eleven goals. First grade water polo won all five CHS fixtures it contested. The first XI finished their season with one win, four losses and two draws. The school production that year was 'Oedipus Rex'. Our speaker today played Creon – one who has a voice of reason and hard truths to tell the king.

The Class of 1969 was led by Alex Tzannes (School Captain), Barry Jakeman (Vice-Captain) and Steven Murchie (Senior Prefect). Two of the leadership team were selected as combined GPS representatives in at least one sport. In 1969, as it is now, there was an expectation that our student leaders should represent the best that is in us as a group. Whether in academics, representative sport, drama, music, chess, public speaking or debating, the High student body is looking to reflect what it values in its leadership. High has a strong tradition of leadership founded on the examples of cohorts of School Prefects.

The Prefect Interns who will take the pledge today before you have had to pass many milestones in their journey through High thus far. They have had to meet academic prerequisites. They have to represent their school in two GPS sports in their final two years of school. They have to have reached at least platinum level in the Student Awards Scheme and need to score at least 100 points in Year 11 and 12. They have had to comply with standards in terms of school uniform, behaviour and punctuality. They have had an opportunity to compose an online personal statement of why they would like to lead. They have faced an electoral college consisting of their peers in Years 10 and 11, the outgoing Prefects and the staff.

Today we celebrate our founding as a school to prepare young men for tertiary study and as an institution that enlarges character through co-curricular activities. The young men being inducted are worthy bearers of the High traditions of leadership by example across areas of school life. I offer my congratulations to them and to all who made the school what it was, what it is now and what it will become.

Meet the Prefect-Intern

What's the best thing about High?

The school nurtures boys who are diverse in their skillsets and talent through a variety of opportunities which are offered within the school. Some people often joke of the overuse of the term 'Scholar Sportsmen', but at the end of the day, the school's identity couldn't be represented better. And everyone is really hardworking all around- in the classroom and on the sporting field. Thanos describes this flawlessly: 'perfectly balanced, as all things should be'

What is one very memorable moment at High?

It was before the 2nd XV rugby game against Grammar, the last game of the GPS season. As a flag bearer, I climbed onto the sturdy shoulders of Tyler Harapin, and before nearly collapsing and completely destroying Tyler's neck, we led the team out of the tunnel. Amongst the insane roar of the crowd, and the ominous thumping of the mighty bass drum, I had never felt more proud to be a High boy.

What's the best piece of advice you've ever been given?

People tell you to only bite off as much as you can chew. Ignore those people, and instead, bite off way more than you can chew, chew REALLY fast and swallow as much as you can. But as much as you succeed in life, it'll always throw its challenges at you. That's just how the cookie crumbles.

What makes the High community so special?

High nurtures ambitious individuals. Regardless of our individual and unique differences, we are glued together as a brotherhood by ambition. Our ambition not only drives our own will to do well in life, but to also share ideas, support one another, and to help others in the process, all with the momentum of Sydney High driving us forward.

It's an honour to be elected as School Captain for 2020, and along with an exceptionally enthusiastic and passionate prefect body, I hope to preserve the amazing culture and environment which High has offered us. I'm very excited to see what's ahead of us for our last year at High.

Army Cadets Brigade's Annual Field Exercise NSW (AFX) 2019

Company Commanders Report

The first time I wrote an AFX report was three years ago, as a new recruit, writing in awe of the senior officers and the strange new world of cadets. Now, looking back as a Cadet Under Officer (CUO) and as Company Commander (COYCMD), I am pleased to see so many young faces wearing the cadet uniform and giving this eight-day camp a shot. With around 50 cadets (20 of which had never been before), Sydney High School Cadet Unit waved goodbye to their parents as they stepped onto the bus, heading for Holsworthy Army Base on Saturday 28 September.

For the week we formed Charlie Company within the Camden Cadet Unit, bringing our numbers to 80 cadets in total. With myself as Company Commander and CDTWO2 Robinson as Company Sergeant Major, we were given the task of overseeing training and execution of duties within C Company for the next several days.

Progressing through the rank structure and acquiring different ranks is not just to provide power and definitely not a tool to make cadets do what you say. This was tested and made a priority during the week, where corporals and sergeants took on higher roles and responsibilities, looking after their assigned cadets and providing them with an enjoyable week. Cadets naturally stood out, and in extraneous situations, leaders emerged and memories were made.

Activities our cadets participated varied from handling and shooting with live rounds the Australian Army Issued F89 Austeyrt (50 rounds) rifle to W.T.T.S (Weapons Training Simulation System), recruitment presentation, participating in a 400-person Tug-of-War competition, water activities, high rope activity, War Memorial visit, drone/trucks/helicopter showcase and a weapons demonstration provided by the ADF. Cadets learnt how to build confidence, work as a team, taking the initiative and building resilience.

For many cadets, they will all agree that the week was tough. Spending eight days in the bush, sleeping in cramped hootchies and carrying around webbing all the time doesn't seem like an ideal way to spend week one of the holidays. However, a challenging week doesn't make it not worthwhile. Cadets learnt to adapt to a regimented lifestyle, breaking, moving and setting up camp at short notice, absorb information quickly and most importantly build memories with friends, while making new ones every day.

For many of us it was our last ever AFX. Those on their fourth or fifth annual camp generally occupied large roles and ranks. As we graduate and march-out, younger cadets and students are looked to to take our places. This continuous cycle has built our future leaders and kept our unit alive from 1883. I encourage those who just experienced their first camp to think back and compare yourselves as people, how you've changed, benefitted and even formed a different outlook on cadets.

A big thank you to the ACS for putting in all the hard work behind the scenes and to the Camden Cadet Unit for being so easy to mesh with.

Cadet Corporal (CDTCPL) AFX 2019 Report

School may have been on break but for the cadets of SHSCU, the early mornings would continue for at least another week. Cadets gathered at Sydney Boys High School before being bussed to aero paddock in Holsworthy Barracks. Charlie Company formed once again when we were reunited with 23 ACU (Camden). Although there were some organisational issues in the 23 BN, in Charlie Company, NCOs were teaching cadets and engaging them with fieldcraft, section formations and other activities. Although there were a few recruits from Camden they quickly picked up on how everything was being run, adapting and getting set up for the night. After the lessons which mainly consisted of ice breakers, we were surprised as we were greeted with fresh food occasionally instead of the usual ration packs. After the long day of activities and setting up we decided to hit the hay and sleep in preparation for the long days ahead of us and the eventually move on Tuesday to Majura Training Area in Canberra.

The following day we were involved in many activities, some of them alongside members of the Defence Force such as WTSS (Weapons Training Simulation System), a live shoot where we shot 50 rounds with the F89 Austeyrt rifle, high courses, visiting the Australian War Memorial and of course, competing against the other companies in a Tug of War.

Overall, AFX 2019 was a great experience for cadets both new and old to develop their skills and meet new people as well as for NCOs to develop their leadership skills and experience. Big thanks to the adult staff for organising everything and putting up with us as well as Camden Unit for all the great moments. The one thing I will remember from this AFX is our company chant, "Charlie Number One!"

Cadet Lance Corporal AFX 2019 Report.

One thing's true, AFX brought us on a hell of a journey to entertain our first week of the holidays. Day one, we set up camp in Holsworthy on an aero paddock. So naturally first, we were shown the incredible aerodynamic finesse of the racer drones and paid hard attention to spot the hornet drone that hovered above us almost invisibly. Over the next few days, daylight was filled with lessons on first aid, radio procedure and activities that included tug of war, cricket and baseball, whilst others had a chance to perform their radio telecommunication skills in picquet. In the slow afternoons, cadets gathered around to hear each other narrate stories on the spot. One of the best was the recipe for fish and chips (apparently killer leprechauns guard Irish potatoes that you must acquire to make chips). And come nightfall, it was tradition to have us crawling on our arms and legs in a game called 'lantern stalk'.

Passing the Tuesday mark, we were all boarding a bus to Majura in the ACT to battle dusty heat and Canberra cold nights. Settling there allowed us to participate in water activities in the gorgeous Jervis Bay of which the task was to throw your mates off the boat. And following that, cadets used legitimate minesweepers to find canned drinks buried on the beach. Other day trips were to the Australian War Memorial where we were invited to participate in the Last Post Ceremony and a high ropes course. Fortunately for us, we were finally served something that contrasted the ration pack food in the form of warm bacon and egg rolls and filling falafel burgers.

Now it seems like it's all fun and games at AFX but a week out in the bush tends to change a person, it holds great potential to test your resilience, patience and discipline like it tested mine and many other cadets. The upside to this environment would be the friendships that grow so much stronger and a sense of collectiveness within the unit. Not to mention the many connections you'll make with cadets from across NSW.

Cadet Report AFX 2019

If there was one thing that stood out as the defining highlight of AFX, it had to be backflipping from the edge of an inflatable raft into crystal-clear water while your crewmates shouted "Man overboard!"

After waking up at 3:30am and enduring a soporific 3-hour bus ride, we finally arrived in Jarvis Bay, a strip of land about 3 hours south of Sydney that was given to the ACT so that the federal government had access to the coastline. At the naval base HMAS Creswell, I volunteered to do the water activity first and the minesweeping activity second, and we headed down to the coastline under thankfully warm sunlight.

The beach was strikingly beautiful. The waters glistened with melted sunlight, refracting the light to form a never-ending pattern of scales. The sand was marble-white, flowing around our feet like liquid silk. We boarded inflatable boats, flipped into the water doing "Man overboard" drills and swam into a giant, tent-like life raft designed for the open sea. (The longest survival time in the life raft was over three years!) I also met fellow cadets who are suffering from the drought - one of them casually remarked that it was his second time ever on a beach.

After lunch, we paired up to use a metal detector to locate soft drink bottles buried deep in the sand, in what was supposed to simulate minesweeping (although, minesweepers lie prone because some mines bounce the payload up and explode). The army instructors showed us how to methodically work through the sand and map out the shape of the object. We drank the soft drinks we found, and they were still refreshingly cold after hours of being buried.

That was by far the best day of AFX for me, and although most people didn't want to get their feet wet, taking the road less travelled does indeed make all the difference.

SHOOTIN' HOOPS

Welcome back to another Shootin' Hoops for the new Season! Last season we saw our first grade hold an amazing record with only one loss and our second-grade team also taking multiple big wins over their opponents. Now the new season starts with newer players joining the teams and our future sure does look bright. After the hours and hours of relentless hard work and training that our first and second grade teams have put in, I think it's fair to say they're more than prepared for the tough season ahead of them.

On Friday and Saturday in the holidays, firsts travelled to NSBIC in the Northern Beaches to compete against the city's best teams in the Sydney School Shootout, which they won, bringing home the Ken Cole

Perpetual Trophy. The first game was against a familiar Sydney Grammar team. Keep in mind, there were only 7 members of the team who were playing, and the team pulled through with a comfortable win, though there was so much more chemistry yet to be developed. The second game was against a tough and highly athletic Charity Bounce team, who played an unexpected zone for the whole game. Unable to get enough shots to fall, High narrowly fell short, hungry for a win in the next game against St Augustine's to qualify for the semi-finals. The team stuck together, kept their heads high, and came through with a win, with a really dominant performance from the team's big men. On day 2, the first match was against Central Coast Grammar, a dangerous and small team which ran the court the whole game, though High was able to stick through the game as a team, defeating them with disciplined and structured defence. And so, High had made the finals, which was up against Newington College. This was a big team, and High knew they had to pull through as a team. Now down to 6 players, against Newington's 12, it was going to be a game of grit and pure hustle. The game was neck and neck in the first 3 quarters, however High had a boost at the end of the 3rd, to put them up by 8. As Newington slowly closed the gap to make it a 3 point game, the team was able to force a steal, leading to a filthy Adam Gordon dunk on the buzzer.

The boys were the first to win it for High since 2013, another extremely successful team. Although this tournament was a huge confidence booster, they have to put in the hard work and stay together as a team in order to dominate in the upcoming GPS season. Many teams were in alternate competitions.

The 15's CHS basketball team has been exceptionally successful this year, maintaining an undefeated title so far even after competing in Sydney East tournament which was held at Sutherland. This allowed our 15's basketball team to advance to Dubbo where they played against the top 16 teams in the state and still remained undefeated. Now they are continuing to prepare for the state championships at Terrigal later this year and are looking to retain their undefeated reign.

Year 9 is just about to begin their basketball season with only two training sessions until their first game in a while, yet every team seems to be keen and prepared for the opening game to their season. The tryouts portrayed an abundance of skill and heart, giving us a glance at a good season to come, especially with the effective training we'll go through thanks to the coaches. The coaches are also putting extra effort to get up early in the morning to train us on Wednesdays and stay late after school to help us sharpen our skills on Mondays and Thursdays.

Another recent game was the High Old Boys Basketball game, an annual reuniting of High's basketball old boys, with the current opens teams. As a very important event for High basketball's culture and community, it was also a really good opportunity for the boys to play their first game together, and work out their sets and structure before the tournaments, and the GPS season. The seconds had a close game, but managed to pull through in the second half with a comfortable lead. In the first's game, High had a poor start, ending up 20 points behind by the end of the first half. The old boys' team had several big names from previous years, a team filled with outstanding individual talent, although the High boys managed to pull through with a four point win after a comeback. Thank you so much to the old boys for the continual support and contributions to the High basketball community. We hope to see you next year!

Our first game back is against St Aloysius next week, in High's first trial match, don't forget to play hard, smart and together. See you next week.

Go HIGH! Play Hard, Play Smart and Play Together!
Thanks to everyone who makes Shootin' Hoops possible

MIC Report

Training over the October holidays was very well attended, with the majority of senior rowers attending eight sessions over the break. The Year 10 Vllls had the most attended training block over any October holiday period held in the past decade, while the junior rowers turned out in huge numbers for a chance to improve their skills.

Term 4 is the start of the racing period.

The first regatta is in Penrith at SIRC in week 4 and will allow the boys to be tested against their opposition for the first time. Year 8 quads will have to wait until week 6 to race for the first time.
